Transamerica final expense insurance

Do you have a client who does not qualify for term life insurance but still needs financial protection? Or one who's simply looking to cover their funeral expenses? Policygenius Pro is thrilled to now offer Transamerica's final expense product.

Final expense life insurance

Transamerica's final expense product provides a level premium whole life insurance policy with face amounts ranging from $1k-$50k and a guaranteed death benefit. The policy builds cash value that your client can borrow against to provide them with additional financial flexibility. For more information on the product and how it compares to our other final expense offerings, see the chart below.
